Washington Sept. 14.—The president received today at the White House J. P. Morgan, who has spent several months in Samoa as special correspondent of the London Times. While in one of the villages of Upolu Leigh learned that a watch, believed to have belonged to either Lieutenant Landsdale or Eustace Monaghan, was in the possession of the natives. He communicated with Mr. Morgan who replied that no effort would be spared to have the watch returned to the rightful owner "with my heartiest condolence." A watch and chain with pocket and other articles attached, were handed to Mr. Leigh and identified as the property of Landsdale. In San Francisco he met the young widow of the lamented officer and placed the articles in her possession.

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—The present year shows a remarkable increase in the shipment of green fruit from California over former years. The Southern Pacific has prepared figures up to September 13, and 5,237 carloads had been shipped up to that date, against 3,554 for the corresponding period in '98. The cars average about thirteen tons each which makes a total of 70,000 tons shipped to eastern points.

WANTED—A woman to do house work and light cooking. For particulars apply to C. A. Fernando, not later than 8 p. m., Central Lodging house. $10-15 Cape Town, Sept. 16.—The high commissioner of Great Britain, Sir Alfred Milner, has issued a proclamation prescribing penalties for inciting the natives of Basutoland and other districts to rebellion.

Irrigation Topics.

That every western state needs irrigation is a truism. Those sections which have tried it have simply demonstrated the necessity for the utilization of the entire water product of the state, if that state is to reach its full development. This utilization of the entire water product of the state means the construction of reservoirs, as there is no river, not reservoir, but that some time during the year wastes large quantities of surplus water. It is also generally conceded that private capital never will utilize all the water of any state. There then remains to be considered the states themselves and the general government as the only agencies qualified to create a comprehensive reservoir system in the west. In the first place, this work is distinctly interstate in its character, and is therefore less properly a state than a national enterprise. In no state are all the streams confined to the limits of those states. Wyoming, for example, is the fountain head of streams flowing in all directions, whose waters pass through or border of no less than twenty other states or territories. This is true to a degree in Colorado. No reservoir can be built in either of these states which will not influence the flow of water in other states.

Another strong reason why the general government should construct reservoirs lies in the fact that it would be improving its own; that is, its reservoir building would make itself its own art. In the other hand, should they build reservoirs, would be improving government land and would reap no direct pecuniary benefit from the sale by the government of those lands thus made available.—Safford Arizona.

The Mount Lowe Railway of Pasadena Cal., is to be extended from its present terminus at Alpine Tavern (elevation 5,000) to the summit of the mountain range (elevation 6,100 feet). When completed the line will be eleven miles long and certainly the most unique mountain railway in America, if not in the world.

The New Dress Goods

EVERYTHING we tell of these days can be truthfully prefixed by "New." Especially so does this apply to Dress Goods.

This concerns Novelty Dress Goods, of which we have about fifty patterns—no two alike.

In the dress goods world, the reign of the plaid is supreme—so in this collection plaids are plentiful, but there is no lack of fancy weaves in plain colors, and the plain weaves so desirable for suitings.

Crepons and Poplins, bayedere and two toned effects, rough and smooth finished goods—checks and plaids, stripes and dots—a careful selection of the best the Eastern market had to offer, and, we doubt not, the highest class dress goods to be found in the territory.

Prices are from 85c to $2.25 a yard—but without the goods before you price means little.

GOLF ... HATS

The First Showing of the New Smart Hats for Women

CALL THEM Golf Hats, Automobile Hats, or what you will. The important fact is they are exceedingly Stylish and popular.

Made of a Felt, with brim slightly turned up at back, and down in front, or not as you wish it; plain or fancy colored silk folded and tied at the side forms the band, through which is fastened a quill.

Briefly, this describes the hat, but no words can quite express the fetching, natty effect of the hat when it is fulfilling its mission—crowning fair woman.

In brown, gray, black, blue, and castor shades.

Prices from $1.25 to $4.50.

They are going rapidly and in order to see the showing in its completeness you should come early. There are only one or two of some styles, so early choosing is best.
